

1. Lille

Our culinary travels begin along the Belgian border in the town of Lille. Steeped in seafood and Flemish influences, the region is a diverse fusion of flavor. Spend an afternoon soaking up the rich cafe culture or wander off the beaten path to the Old Town neighborhoods before making your reservations to explore the city's gourmet treasures.

2. Reims

The city of Reims in France's Champagne region is bubbling over with exceptional places to sip, eat and stay. Enjoy a world-class tasting tour or descend into the coolness of the champagne caves, challenge yourself with a gourmet cooking class or savor the city's high concentration of exquisite restaurants.

3. Dijon

The capital city of Burgundy and the Cote d'Or Vineyards. Visit its landmark restaurants and bustling food market, sample the signature gingerbread and mustard-dishes which pay homage to the city's origins along the spice route.

4. Lyon

Your final stop takes you to the narrow streets of Lyon which have become the epicenter for French cooking. Visit the humble bouchons or dine at the most opulent tables in France. Wander the sprawling food market or enjoy a simple cafe lunch on the narrow strip of land between the city's two rivaling rivers.
