About Spain

Spain is Europe's sunniest destination. There are 5,000 miles of coastline sheltering the best beaches on the planet. Travelers will enjoy a rich artistic legacy, plenty of museums and some unforgettable food -- all in a country that has been called one of Europe's best values.

Seville

A city of Baroque opulence where Moorish architecture competes with the influences of the Catholic Church, there is nothing quite like Seville. Explore the palace of Real Alcázar or watch a real bullfight, wander through an open-air market or count the bells tolling from the cathedral.

Valencia

Valencia's warm climate makes it the ideal city for a party. Small and compact it's easy to stroll the cobblestone streets with its cafes and neighborhood bars. Within the five barrios are vintage boutiques, museums and a cathedral whose chapel is rumored to have held the Holy Grail.

Getting Around

Train or rental car is the best way to navigate through Spain. Flights are available domestically across Spain and run on a consistent schedule. Their public transportation system works well - but typically runs late.
